Monday MUST-SEE EPISODE!

REVENGE!

Nick vows to ruin Robert, while Leanne is left reeling...

Nick will never forgive Robert for his one-night stand with Carla, which led to the breakdown of Nick's relationship and Carla's exit from Weatherfield.

Blaming the chef for his single status, not to mention the loss of his livelihood and business, Nick intends to make life difficult for Robert in a bid to get revenge for ruining his happy-ever-after.

When it becomes clear that Robert is struggling to run the Bistro on his own, Nick rubs his hands with glee and, this week, announces a plan to set up a rival restaurant next door!

'Nick wants to ruin Robert, get him out of the way and get back the Bistro, which Robert got under false pretences,' says Ben Price, who plays seething Nick. 'He feels cheated. With Carla having left, he's centralised all his hate onto Robert.'

But Nick's revenge plan doesn't just stop there. Knowing Robert has been hitting the bottle to cope with the stress of running the Bistro, Nick tips off the police who then breathalyse the chef! When Robert's found to be over the limit, he's arrested and warned he's looking at a 12-month ban and a hefty fine.

Caught in the middle... Leanne

Horrified

Happy to see Robert is slowly sinking, while he feels as if he's on the up, Nick later discusses his new business venture with Leanne. Their conversation is interrupted, however, when furious Robert bursts in, having found out his arch-enemy shopped him to the police. Leanne's horrified to hear Nick has stooped so low...

In his bid to ruin Robert, has Nick ruined his chances of winning back his ex? ■

Just good friends..? Aidan and Maria

Love cheats!

After rowing with their partners, Aidan and Maria end up sleeping together!

The cracks in Eva and Aidan's relationship start to show this week, when Eva suggests they should move in together, but he's not so sure.

A thrilled Eva is then left upset and humiliated when, after finding out a 'Mr Connor' is interested in renting Carla's old flat, it turns out to be Johnny, not boyfriend Aidan!

Feeling suffocated by Eva, Aidan starts to doubt their future and goes to see Maria, who's also down in the dumps following a row with Luke. 'Maria's had a massive go at Luke in the Rovers. Luke throws his keys at Maria – which is what causes it all to kick off!' says Samia Ghadie, who plays the hairdresser.

Later, over a bottle of wine, Maria and Aidan both moan about their other halves and start to reminisce about their childhood memories. 'They've known each other for years because Aidan is the cousin of Liam, Maria's late husband,' explains Samia.

Betrayal

As the alcohol flows freely, the pair have a heart-to-heart discussion, and one thing soon leads to another...

'He calls her beautiful and piles on the charm,' says Samia.

Then, a steamy kiss goes further and the pair end up sleeping together!

Can the pair keep their betrayal a secret? ■

Death clash!

A fight erupts when Grant blames Phil for their mum's suicide...

The warring Mitchell brothers come face-to-face this week, and within minutes Phil and Grant are at each other's throats!

While Sharon had hoped the pair would be there for one another in the face of the family's problems – what with Ben disappearing following boyfriend Paul's murder, and Phil's health deteriorating – Grant shatters any reconciliation when he accuses Phil of helping their late mum Peggy to die!

Phil, of course, is fuming and, as he insists he had nothing to do with Peggy's suicide, a bitter row erupts. Sharon begs the brothers to stop – but there's no chance of that when Grant brings up the topic of the money Phil borrowed from him for Kathy. Phil then demands Grant leaves.

Bitter feud

But Grant won't return to Portugal until he gets his cash. After pleading with Phil to bury the hatchet with Grant, Sharon goes to find her ex husband, who she almost kissed last time he was home. But Grant's in the arms of another local lady! Which one?

Later, Grant's spotted by Kathy. But as she tries to start up a conversation, Grant shuts her down – he just wants his money. Kathy doesn't have it, though, while Ian refuses to help, telling Grant to get it from Phil!

By this time, Phil has had a chance to cool down and, having thought over Sharon's advice about making peace with Grant, he's ready to talk. But as he offers his younger brother an olive branch, is Grant prepared to end their bitter feud? ■

Back off, Babe!

Claudette tells her to stay clear of the Cokers...

A bereft Pam and Les are struggling to keep going following the horrific murder a few weeks ago of their beloved grandson Paul.

Seeing them at their lowest-ever ebb this week, Claudette steps in to bolster the undertaker and his wife, offering them her full support and gently encouraging Pam to visit Paul's body so she can say a last goodbye.

But Claudette knows it's not just Paul's shock death which has brought the couple to their knees.

Aware that Babe has been making their lives Hell recently with her vile blackmail campaign about Les' cross-dressing secret, Claudette ignores Vincent's pleas to keep out of it, and instead bravely confronts the conniving pub cook.

Tackling Babe head on, Claudette – who's got form, having murdered her own husband, Henry – warns her to keep away from the grieving couple or else! Will Babe agree? ■

EMMERDALE

Tuesday
MUST-SEE EPISODE!

Will they marry?

Upset Joanie confronts Lisa as she prepares to wed Zak...

Most people thought Zak and Lisa Dingle's marriage would last for ever – but when Joanie Wright walked into the family's life, it was the beginning of the end for the Emmerdale couple.

'Zak describes Joanie as the woman of his dreams, and might have wished he'd met her when he was a bit younger,' says Steve Halliwell, who plays him. 'But he has a deep affection for Lisa and always will do.'

But now, with his marriage to Lisa over and the divorce papers signed, Zak is about to marry Joanie. Or is he?

The controversial union is shaken when Zak slips up, stumbling home from his stag do and calls Joanie 'Lisa' by mistake.

Devastated

Lisa, meanwhile, is shattered by Zak's change of heart and spends an evening sobbing on Chas' shoulder, admitting she still loves her ex-husband.

'Zak assumes because Lisa has been kind about the wedding, that she's dealing with it well,' says Steve.

On the big day itself, Zak's worried about what he said to his bride-to-be, while nervous Joanie is riddled with insecurities about her man's feelings. Needing to discuss the situation, Joanie heads off, in her wedding dress, to talk to Lisa.

'Whether he's deeply in love with Joanie or whether it's just a mad infatuation, I don't know,' says Steve. 'People in the street shout "Get back with Lisa!". Zak and Lisa were a symbol of loyalty and family values. It's what I would like.'

Will Zak and Joanie tie the knot – or does Lisa still have a chance? ■

DIVORCE!

Cain's stunned as Moria says their marriage is over

When Cain gave his wife an ultimatum, telling her to choose between him and her drug-addict daughter, Holly, Moira knew that the writing was on the wall for their marriage.

Since then Moira's discovered her husband kissed his ex, Charity, and she's witnessed Cain's rage resurface as her husband tried to ram her brother-in-law, James Barton, off the road in a fit of jealousy. The culmination of events has all been too much for Moira who, this week, informs her husband she wants a divorce.

'Cain's attempt to drive into James was the straw that broke the camel's back,' says Natalie J Robb, who plays the feisty farmer. 'It's at that point that she thinks: "We're over." James asks her if she really wants a divorce and she says she doesn't but Moira doesn't know if she'll ever be able to trust Cain again.'

Cain is devastated when Moira announces her intentions to formally dissolve their fiery marriage.

Is this really the end for the headstrong husband and wife? ■

Marni Nixon
1930-2016

Best known for...
Marni's classically-trained voice was mimed to by stars who didn't have sufficiently good singing voices of their own, including Natalie Wood in West Side Story, Audrey Hepburn in My Fair Lady and Deborah Kerr in The King and I. Marni also played Sister Sophia in 1965 film The Sound of Music.

Other achievements...
Marni's voice talents have also been used on TV and she's been heard singing in Spaced, Glee and Seinfeld. She also guest-starred in Law & Order: Special Victims Unit.

Family life...
After a long battle with cancer, Marni died on 24 July, aged 86. She's survived by two daughters and grandchildren.

Don't panic!

Ruth Langsford discusses how she and husband Eamonn Holmes deal with the unexpected on live TV...

THIS MORNING
Monday-Thursday, 10.30am
ITV Entertainment

Q You and Eamonn are presenting This Morning throughout the summer. Is the programme different?

A There's a summer flavour because (hopefully) the sun is shining and we go outside to do fashion and barbecue pieces. It's still a show for adults but, with children on holiday, we do things like making healthier ice lollies. We recently had a crazy scientist on doing experiments with items found around the house.

Q Does live television still make you nervous?

A You can never be complacent, but I love it – it keeps me on my toes. Anything can happen and you have to be ready for it. I always say, 'It's not that difficult when things are going well, but it's when things go wrong that we earn our money!'

Q How do you cope when things go wrong?

A I've learned not to panic, not to lie to the viewers and to let them know that something's happened. Not long ago we had David Cassidy on via video link. I don't know if he was unwell, but he wasn't very pleasant. Eamonn and I weren't expecting that, but it's what we're paid to deal with.

Awkward encounter! Ruth and Eamonn interviewed David Cassidy (right)

Q Does your marriage to co-host Eamonn bring something extra to the show?

A People are fascinated and wonder if I'm a bit cross with Eamonn and whether we've had a row! We do bicker and banter about small things, like how much luggage I take on holidays and who loads the dishwasher. We tease each other mercilessly.

Q Is it hard having your marriage in the spotlight?

A No, it makes us laugh! When you see headlines and there's nothing in them, we know it means people are interested and happy to read about us. We've been together 21 years and are pretty solid in our relationship. We're in the public eye, so we can't complain – we know it goes with the job. ■

BRIEF ENCOUNTERS
Monday, 9.00pm ITV Drama

Steph, Nita, Dawn and Pauline have earned money and found friendship since becoming party planners for sexy underwear firm Ann Summers. And as drama Brief Encounters concludes this week, the women and their pals host a massive exotic lingerie event to get other local women to join in the fun!

Steph is embracing the new lease of life that hosting the parties has given her.

Jaw-dropping!

'We've seen Steph develop into this amazing woman,' says Sophie Rundle, who plays her. 'She started off in one place and finished somewhere different.'

In this final episode, Steph and the others are in high spirits as the lingerie party gets under way.

After marrying Russell last week, Dawn couldn't be happier – and she's stunned when he turns up at the party and gives a jaw-dropping performance...

'We've spent a lot the series laughing' says Sharon Rooney, who plays Dawn. But there's not much for Pauline to smile about when she hears PC Johnny Daniels is leaving for London after she rejected him when she discovered he's her long-lost son. Can she find it in her heart to accept him?

Turning away... Rejected Johnny

'Pauline's lived a circumspect life,' says Penelope Wilton, who plays her. 'But when she discovers other options, her horizons broaden.'

As Steph hosts the party's fashion show, she's still feeling torn between estranged husband Terry and on-off lover Johnny...

LAST IN SERIES!

Downfall of a King?

King Louis struggles as his enemies launch another evil campaign...

VERSAILLES
Wednesday, 9.00pm BBC2 Drama

King Louis' royal court is thrown into chaos in this thrilling series finale when Henriette of England, the wife of his brother Philippe, falls gravely ill after being poisoned.

The King fears his enemies are closing in, yet as Henriette – his sister-in-law and mistress – fights for her life, he knows he must catch the traitor who's behind the plot to kill her!

Some believe a foreign assassin has slipped into the royal court, but others believe Louis' French enemies attacked Henriette in a bid to make the King of England, her brother, declare war on France.

'Louis has enemies at home and abroad,' says George Blagden, who plays the French King. 'There are plenty of people who wish him ill!'

The head of the King's secret police, fearsome Fabien Marchal, begins interrogating members of the royal court – and he soon realises there could be more than one conspirator behind it all.

Sinister plot

Marchal alerts the King, but as they close in on one of the men who's been plotting Louis' downfall, news of another sinister plot emerges.

To the King's dismay, his young son has gone missing and Louis is afraid that his enemies have struck once more!

'I'm so glad we're making a second series,' says George. 'I can't wait to get started on it because there's so much more of this story left to tell!' ■

Fred Sirieix is determined to help a new batch of hopefuls find love as First Dates in the restaurant of romance returns...

FIRST DATES
Tue, 10.00pm C4 Entertainment

Finding 'The One' can be a tricky business when looking for love, but there's no better way to break the ice on a blind date than a delicious dinner and a few drinks with a potential new partner.

As the First Dates restaurant opens its doors to those hoping to be paired with their ideal match, maitre d' Fred Sirieix is once more on hand to oversee proceedings.

With over 80,000 applicants wanting to try their luck on the programme, there's no shortage of people ready for romance.

'People have tried so many things to find love,' he says. 'We match people very well and they know that our intentions are good.'

Many couples have certainly risen to the challenge in the past, including several celebrities such as Gogglebox's Scarlett Moffatt, TV presenter Esther Rantzen and comedian Bernie Clifton, who have all popped into the restaurant in central London for a date.

'You can see when people walk in which ones have a strong connection,' says Fred. 'If the chemistry isn't there, though, there's nothing you can do.'

In real life, Fred, who has a partner, Alex, and two children, is general manager of a hotel restaurant on Park Lane in London and became involved with the show after appearing in BBC2 show Michel Roux's Service five years ago.

He's been a huge hit since the show first aired in 2013, but he dismisses any notion of himself as a connoisseur of love.

Wedding bells

'I wanted to do something I could be proud of,' he says. 'I don't want to do trashy TV – I wanted to do quality stuff and I think I was right with the choice I made.'

Despite the odd dating disaster, Fred says the experience is positive for most. 'We already have a couple, Victoria and Scott, who are getting married and another who are engaged. For us that's the goal.' ■

Watch out for Team GB's best Olympic medal prospects in the Games' first week...

OLYMPIC GAMES
BBC1, BBC2, BBC4, BBC Red Button, times vary Sport

Tom Daley
Daniel Goodfellow

Tom Daley and Daniel Goodfellow

DIVING Men's 10m platform synchro

This is the third Olympics for Tom, 22, who won bronze in the 10m platform individual at London 2012, but it's the first Games for Daniel, 19. The pair must perform identical dives simultaneously from the 10m platform – and both must be synchronised as closely as possible. 'I used to watch Tom when I was younger,' says Daniel. 'Now I'm competing alongside him!'

Current form

The pair won silver at the European Championships in May after slipping out of gold-medal position in the final round to their German rivals, who they're aiming to beat – alongside the ever-strong Chinese and US divers – in Rio in Monday's final.

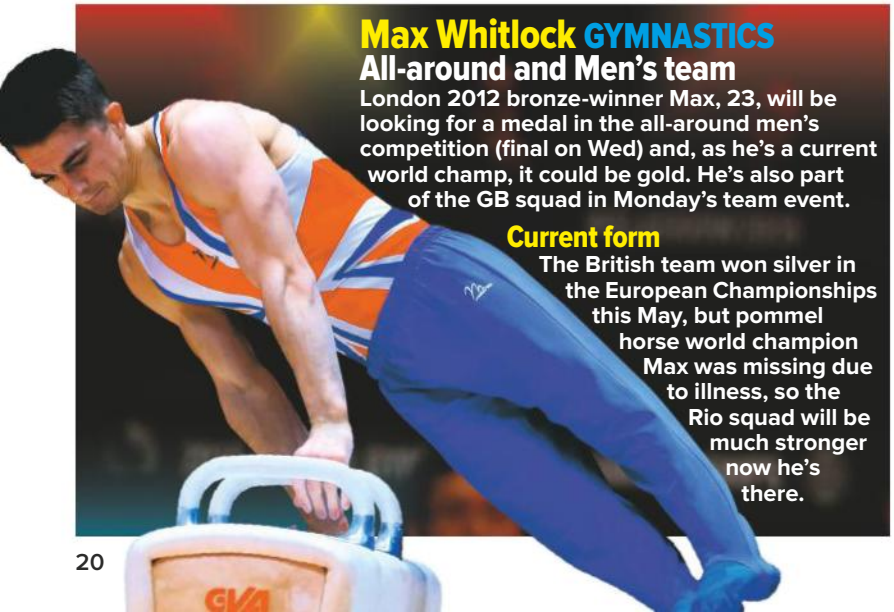
Jessica Ennis-Hill

ATHLETICS Heptathlon

After having baby Reggie in 2014, Jess is looking to defend the heptathlon title she won in London 2012. She then went on to win last year's world championships and remains a big favourite to win the multi-event competition again. She starts her bid on Friday with the first four disciplines: 100m hurdles, high jump, shot put and 200m sprint. Her big rival is another Brit, Katarina Johnson-Thompson.

Current form

Despite a niggly calf injury earlier this year, Jess beat the world's best at a heptathlon event in Germany in June. There, she posted her best performances since having a baby and achieved a career best in the long jump. 'There are bits and pieces to work on, but Jess is in really good shape,' says Toni Minichiello, who's coached the athlete since she was 13.



Max Whitlock GYMNASTICS

All-around and Men's team

London 2012 bronze-winner Max, 23, will be looking for a medal in the all-around men's competition (final on Wed) and, as he's a current world champ, it could be gold. He's also part of the GB squad in Monday's team event.

Current form

The British team won silver in the European Championships this May, but pommel horse world champion Max was missing due to illness, so the Rio squad will be much stronger now he's there.

Helen Glover and Heather Stanning

ROWING Women's pair

Helen and Heather are strong favourites to repeat their 2012 success, where they outpaced all other crews and won gold. 'My aim was to win an Olympic medal and as soon as that happened, I knew I wanted another one!' says Helen.

Current form

The two Brits saw off competition to win gold at the World Rowing Championships in France last year, so are hot favourites to take their second Olympic gold in this Friday's final.

Adam Peaty
SWIMMING
100m breaststroke

Derbyshire lad Adam was just 20 when he broke the world record at 100m breaststroke last year, then went on to become world champion. Gold-winning Rebecca Adlington talks about Adam's chances: 'Everyone's expecting a gold from him. He's looking strong and if anyone can handle the pressure, it's Adam.'

Current form

Adam posted the fastest 100m breaststroke time in the world this year when he won gold at the European Championships. One of his main rivals is Brit, Ross Murdoch.

EQUESTRIAN
Team and Individual Three Day Event

Britain's team took silver in 2012, behind Germany. Team GB includes William Fox-Pitt, Kitty King, Pippa Funnell and Gemma Tattersall.

Current form

William won the prestigious Kentucky three-day event in 2014 and Gemma came third in the Badminton Horse Trials earlier this year. Can the combined scores of the British riders lead to team success over the strongly fancied Germans?

Bradley Wiggins
CYCLING
Team pursuit

Former Tour de France winner Sir Bradley Wiggins has claimed golds in every Olympics since 2004. He's now a member of Britain's four-man Team Pursuit and is hoping to grab a fifth Olympic gold. 'Having Bradley back is awesome,' says former Olympic sprint cycling champion Victoria Pendleton. 'It blows me away how much talent is crammed into that tall, lean body.'

Current form

Bradley was in the GB team that had to settle for silver at this year's Cycling World Championships, after just losing out to Australia. These fierce rivals are favourites to take the top two places in Rio, where the British lads will be desperate for revenge in Friday's final.

Information subject to change because of late schedule changes, bad weather, athlete withdrawal. Injury or poor form could also mean competitors don't make their expected finals.*

Free Hearing Check

We get our eyes and teeth checked regularly – but how many of us forget about our ears? They're just as important. Giggling children, chatter with friends or the early morning call of bird song; sound can be pretty amazing and add to the enjoyment of life – so when we start to notice changes in our hearing it can be frustrating and upsetting; but it needn't be.

If you, a friend or a member of your family have noticed changes in your hearing; are finding conversations more difficult, or find you need to turn the TV up that bit higher nowadays you're not alone. One in six people in the UK currently has some form of hearing loss, but because it happens so gradually, we don't always notice the signs. The good news is that at Boots it's simple to do something about it.

A free 15 minute check is all it takes to find out how well you're hearing. We'll check the health of your ears, test your hearing and talk through any concerns you may have. And if we think we could help you hear better we'll offer professional, personalised advice on what you should do next.

So, if you've noticed a change in your hearing recently, there really has never been a better time to check it out in one of over 450 Boots and Boots Opticians across the country.

How can I help someone with hearing loss?

Try to find quiet places with as little background noise as possible to chat.

Try taking turns talking and try not to interrupt or speak over people.

Make sure the person you are speaking to can see your face clearly when you talk. Lots of people use basic lip reading without even realising, and your words will travel directly and with more clarity to their destination.

If someone has trouble understanding you, try saying things a different way instead of repeating them verbatim. It may be that they find a particular word hard to hear.

Encourage the person to attend a free hearing check – to get the right help and advice.

Take a bow-wow... Archie was helped by Noel Fitzpatrick (inset)

THE BIONIC DOG!

Thanks to a metal joint designed by Supervet Noel, terrier Archie can now run normally

THE SUPERVET: BIONIC SPECIALS
Thursday, 8.00pm C4 Factual

When retired teacher Jane suffered a series of strokes, her little Norfolk terrier, Archie, became a lifeline, taking him for walks aided her recovery.

'Archie helps me every day because I have to go out and use my muscles,' explains Jane, from Hampshire.

But while on their daily outings, Jane noticed four-year-old Archie was struggling to walk.

Her local vet referred Archie to TV's Supervet, Noel Fitzpatrick, who gave Jane the upsetting news that her dog was in constant pain from a badly deformed elbow.

Past series of C4's The Supervet have shown Noel performing ground-breaking surgery to transform pets' lives, but this new four-part series focuses on how he designs bionic replacement limbs and joints, and offers an insight into the pioneering procedures he carries out.

For Archie, Noel designs a new elbow to align the deformed leg bones. Archie's elbow is scanned into a computer, and Noel's digital design is used to create a complex new metal joint in a process called 3D printing.

Cure... Archie's new joint

Just months after the surgery, Archie is running around normally. 'He's come bubbling back, he's himself, but even better,' says Jane. 'He's raring to go.'

Noel insists his techniques could soon help humans, too.

'Surgery involving bionics should be shared among animals and humans,' he says.

'In the Paralympics, 20 years from now, people may be running using the implants and techniques seen in this new series. It's incredible.' ■

Emotional reunion... Mandy (right) with Pamela

MY MUM WAS A CHILD!

A shock discovery 30 years ago made Mandy determined to track down her birth mother

Mandy Hearn always knew she was adopted, yet at the age of 18 she made a shocking discovery that has haunted her ever since.

Mandy's mother, Pamela, was aged just 13 when she gave birth to her, and the 48-year-old mother of two from Surrey is desperate to find out whether Pamela was scarred by what must have been a deeply traumatic experience.

'She was only a child herself,' says Mandy, whose story features in this week's Long Lost Family. 'I was stunned when I found out how old she was when she had me; she must have been terrified.'

When Mandy learnt the truth 30 years ago, she wanted to track down Pamela, but halted her search when she realised Pamela might have moved on and started a family of her own.

'I decided I might cause more damage if I brought up the past so I stopped looking,' explains Mandy. 'But it's something I've struggled with ever since.

'It would give me peace knowing her life has turned out okay.'

LONG LOST FAMILY
Wed, 9.00pm ITV Factual

When Davina McCall and Nicky Campbell finally track down Pamela, they learn that she had spent years hoping to see her daughter again – yet didn't know how to start looking.

Happy ending

'I was heartbroken when I gave up Mandy,' admits Pamela. 'I got through it by holding on to the idea that I was helping a family that couldn't have children, and making a family for other people.'

Mandy isn't the only one on this week's programme searching for a parent, as Davina and Nicky also attempt to reunite a former British soldier with his father.

As for Mandy and Pamela, their story has a happy ending as they are brought together.

'It's a great feeling to know she's well,' smiles Mandy. 'She was so happy to know that I had a happy childhood.

'She thought she was making a family and that's what she did!' ■

WHEN HUNTER TURNS PREY!

At risk... Nkani's visibility makes her vulnerable to predators

Two rare white lion cubs are born at a disadvantage because of their colour...

With their tawny coats blending into African grasslands, lions are the ultimate stealth predators.

So what happens when a lion is born with a white coat, making camouflage impossible?

In South Africa's vast Kruger National Park, only one rare white lion cub is born into each generation – and its chances of survival are slim.

A two-part Animal Planet documentary showing on Wednesday follows two white lion cub sisters, Nkani and Shinga, on their perilous journey to adulthood.

'These white cubs are feisty little lions, but their high visibility is their greatest challenge,' explains The Lion King actor and singer Bongani Nxumalo, who narrates the nature programme.

'Prey will see them before they see the prey.'

Nkani and Shinga are not albino, but suffer from a genetic condition causing their bodies to produce very little pigment.

To make their lives even more difficult, the pair were born into a tiny pride with just their mother, Matimba, and aunt, Khanya – who has two cubs of her own – to battle predators such as leopards.

By the time Nkani and Shinga are eight-months old, food is hard to obtain, as their white coats alert their prey and alert monkeys who screech an alarm.

But as the sisters grow, they become stronger... 'Each day their chances of survival grow stronger, and so do their skills,' says Bongani. 'But their story has only just begun.' ■

LIFTING THE LID ON BEANS!

Gregg Wallace discovers what it takes to produce one of the UK's favourite foods

Beanz meanz big business... Gregg with Cherry

INSIDE THE FACTORY

Tuesday, 8.00pm BBC2 Factual

Whether on toast or with chips, we Brits love baked beans, getting through two million cans each day. But how do the beans get to our plates?

Gregg Wallace and co-host Cherry Healey find out when they visit the Heinz factory in Wigan for Inside the Factory.

'More than three million cans of beans roll out of the factory each day,' reveals MasterChef's Gregg. 'It's incredible.'

Gregg helps to unload 27 tonnes of haricot beans from North America and then follows them through the 54-acre Heinz factory, the largest baked-bean factory in the world.

The dry beans are blanched and rehydrated before being mixed with the sauce – the recipe for which is top secret!

'The spice recipe has stayed the same since 1896, and is delivered to the factory as three anonymous powder mixes,' says Gregg, who learns that the beans aren't even baked, but cooked in the sealed tin using steam.

'It's amazing,' he smiles. 'I saw beans come in from North America and leave on a lorry the next day.

'Who knows, in a few days, someone might dip their chips into them!' ■

If you experience poorer circulation due to reduced activity, symptoms such as aching legs and feet, swelling and discomfort in your lower limbs, can affect your wellbeing, preventing you from doing the things you love. Clinically proven Electrical Muscle Stimulation (EMS) could provide the solution.

EMS technology has been used as a medical therapy for around 100 years.
Its range of therapeutic effects includes improved circulation, reduced swelling and increased muscle strength.

REVITIVE DX is a drug-free Class IIa medical device designed to increase circulation in the lower legs and feet and has been scientifically tested.
REVITIVE uses clinically proven Electrical Muscle Stimulation (EMS)

95% of people who buy REVITIVE keep it because it works!

Noticeable results may be felt after the first use – it could be a decrease in swelling or simply being able to sleep easier... knowing that you can get back to enjoying the things you love. For others, experiencing the full benefits may take regular use for a little longer which is why we offer a 30 day money back guarantee.

MEDICAL SCIENCE SUPPORTS REVITIVE'S EMS TECHNOLOGY

Developed by researchers at UK universities, REVITIVE Circulation Booster is a drug-free, Class IIa medical device. REVITIVE uses clinically proven Electrical Muscle Stimulation (EMS) to improve blood flow in the legs and feet. EMS uses electrical pulses which activate nerves, causing leg muscles to contract, which helps to push the blood 'uphill', back to the heart.

Good circulation is vital for good health, but age, certain illnesses and simply being less active can all cause circulation problems. These can lead to a range of symptoms, including swollen ankles, tired and aching legs, and numbness in the hands and feet.

Simple to use and drug-free, REVITIVE is the easy way to help boost circulation.

"We have tested and used REVITIVE and have found that it is very effective at stimulating the muscles of the feet and lower legs, causing a very good increase in blood flow. I am so impressed that I will be using it myself!"

Professor Mark Whiteley, Vascular Surgeon & Director of The Whiteley Clinic, Guildford & Harley Street.

Trials conducted in collaboration with Professor Alun Davies, Professor of Vascular Surgery at Imperial College London.

Speak to your pharmacist about how REVITIVE is now suitable for use in Diabetics:

EMS Technology may help to:
- Increase circulation
- Reduce diabetic neuropathic pain in lower legs & feet

With regular use over time.

Could you claim compensation for your injury?

If you've been injured in an accident that wasn't your fault, make sure that you don't miss out on thousands of pounds in compensation…

According to research, 18 per cent of adults in the UK have been injured in an accident in the last five years, yet only one in four have gone on to make a claim for personal injury compensation. This means every year millions of pounds are unclaimed by accident victims who have been injured through no fault of their own.

Received £6,500

CAN YOU AFFORD NOT TO CLAIM?

Injury compensation could be worth thousands of pounds to you. Injuries can range from soft tissue damage to broken bones or permanent disability. They can all impact your quality of life, either short or long term. The law says you should not suffer personally or financially for someone else's negligence. Compensation exists to: provide recompense for pain and suffering, replace lost earnings, fund medical expenses and rehabilitation, and cover additional expenses.

GET EXPERT HELP AND ADVICE

Accident Advice Helpline is the UK's largest personal injury specialist law firm. Our dedicated team of expert personal injury solicitors will be able to provide you with the best possible advice. Whether you have been injured in a road accident, at work or elsewhere, our solicitors are dedicated to getting you maximum compensation with minimum fuss.

Call 0800 740 8895 now for a quick and confidential FREE CLAIM ASSESSMENT

Accident Advice Helpline is recommended by TV consumer champion Dame Esther Rantzen and has a 5-star 'Excellent' rating from Feefo, with 98 per cent positive reviews.

HOW MUCH COULD I CLAIM?

Often people greatly underestimate how much their claim could be worth. The Accident Advice Helpline website (www.accidentadvicehelpline.co.uk/WOTV) has a quick claim calculator to assist with valuations. How much you could claim depends on the circumstances. Rebecca from Canvey Island received over £5,000 in compensation following a road accident in which she suffered neck and back injuries.

Insurance companies set aside huge sums for injury compensation claims and every year millions of pounds are left unclaimed – so, don't miss out on what's rightfully yours!

18% of adults in the UK have been injured in an accident in the past five years. [1]

DONT MISS OUT [2]
Only one in four people who have suffered personal injury attempt to claim.

YOUR LEGAL RIGHT
If you have been injured as the result of an accident, then it is your legal right to seek compensation.

HAVE YOUR SAY

Greg's the greatest

Hats off to Greg Davies. Not only does he star in C4's hilarious comedy Man Down, but he also writes it! It's definitely the funniest show on TV at the moment. The first episode of the new series, in which he had to break into his school to steal his personnel file in a bid to save his job was fantastic. The icing on the cake was Steven Berkoff, who played a sinister caretaker who made Greg's character dance before he'd help!

Stephen McCarthy, Glasgow

Save The Musketeers!

Rant of the week

The third run of The Musketeers has been brilliant, with fine acting, great action and lots of compelling storylines. It's such a shame it's the final-ever series! When I think of the terrible BBC shows that never seem to get cancelled, it makes me really angry to think this is the last we'll see of d'Artagnan and his friends! I know dramas like this aren't cheap to make but we all pay for our TV licence and deserve high-quality entertainment, not endless cookery shows. Come on BBC, keep The Musketeers!

B Hobern, Essex

Last mission... d'Artagnan

Tears of joy

I love ITV's Long Lost Family but I have to make sure I have the tissues handy before it starts! I'm not really an emotional person, but this show never fails to make me cry. When people see photos of their lost loved ones for the first time, read their letters and then meet up again after decades apart, it gets me every time! I hope hosts Davina McCall and Nicky Campbell continue to reunite families for many years to come.

Ann Forshaw, York

David steals the show!

Emotional... Jack as bereaved David in Corrie

The recent episode of ITV's Coronation Street in which Kylie Platt died was absolutely heartbreaking. Jack P Shepherd, who plays her husband, David, was just brilliant, with a genuine and emotional performance. It was so moving, it left me in tears! The scenes of him holding Kylie in the street as she took her last breath, and when he was giving the children the bad news, really had me welling up. It showcased just how versatile an actor Jack really is and he certainly deserves an award. I can't wait to see if David gets his revenge.

Lynda Bray, Berkshire

Esther's heartache

I was completely hooked on C4's spin-off show Celebrity First Dates! The first episode featured the lovely Esther Rantzen, who was an absolute joy. She was obviously trying her best to get on with her date, but when she spoke about her late husband it was obvious it was all too much and I felt so moved by the situation. I can only admire Esther for trying, but we could all see her heart still belongs to her beloved Desmond!

G Gillies, Cleveland

Dating game... Esther Rantzen

Loving it in Eden

I'm really enjoying C4's new reality series Eden. Watching 23 strangers try to build a society from scratch in a remote part of Scotland is very entertaining and the young people involved are showing great initiative. It was so funny when they made their own home-brew and got drunk, but it's also interesting watching them tend to their livestock. I look forward to what happens next and wish them luck, because the weather in the Scottish Highlands can be pretty bleak at times!

Q I really enjoyed C4's celebrity series The Jump, will there be another series?

A The winter sports series will be returning in early 2017. Host Davina McCall will be bringing us all the action as celebrities test their skills to emulate this year's champion, rugby player Ben Cohen.

Leaping into action... Davina hosts The Jump
